

Classmate Search

After booking the banquet hall, the next step is to start the search for all the classmates who moved and lost touch. This should be started immediately, at least a year in advance. Eighteen months before your reunion would be better because you want to find them before you mail out the reunion announcement and reservation form.

Between college, military, career change, marriage, and divorce it can be quite a challenge to keep the roster current. The internet helps, but email addresses become invalid when classmates change service providers, change jobs, change postal addresses, etc. Obviously, creating a committee right out of high school and make every effort to keep in contact every year.

A 1978 classmate is developing helpful hints to assist in your search for lost classmates.
